THE MAKERS
OF CANADA

I HAVE really enjoyed reading "The Makers of Canada," and have not missed a number so far in the series. They are well written, and full of much information never before given to the public. For their literary excellence as well as their historical worth I consider them a very valuable addition to my library.

I CONSIDER this one of the most important of our literary publications. It will remain as a remarkably useful contribution to the history of Canada and a fair chronicle of patriotic deeds which it was a duty for every one of us to preserve from oblivion.—SIR LOUIS A. JETTÉ.

AS a subscriber to "The Makers of Canada" I have much pleasure in certifying to the pleasure and profit I have derived from the perusal of the different volumes of the series.

While these volumes are, of course, not all of equal merit, I can confidently commend the work as a whole, as being one of very great value to anyone desirous of obtaining a clear conception of the different phases of the history of our country dealt with.—HON. IT must be a source of much satisfaction to know that the scholars of both hemispheres have commended your undertaking, which has itself contributed in a signal way to the making of Canada. To have united the leading minds of both sections of the Dominion in so illuminating a service is a triumph, in the celebration of which it is an honour to be asked to share.—JOHN READE, F.R.S.C., Literary Editor, Montreal Gazette.

YOU have asked me, as one of the purchasers of "The Makers of Canada" to let you know what I think of it.

I have great pleasure in doing so, because I consider that this is one of the best publications ever issued in Canada.

As my purchase has been recent I have not yet been able to read the whole series but I have succeeded in reading more than half of the numbers, and I must say that I have derived therefrom the greatest enjoyment and profit.

I have looked through the remainder of the series with a view to reading them at an early date, and I desire to say that I do not know of any set of books giving a more complete and luminous history of Canada for a period covering nearly three hundred years.

The work, as a whole, has been written with great brilliancy, the editing has evidently been very carefully attended to and the mechanical work is very fine.

I have already induced several of my friends to give orders for these books, and I am sure that any person who appreciates good literature will be very glad of an opportunity to own the work.—A. R. CREELMAN, K.C.,

NO loyal son of the Dominion of Canada, can fail to appreciate the thoroughness with which her history is being set forth in the series of twenty elaborate monographs, under the attractive title, "The Makers of Canada." As regards the particular statesmen and explorers selected, there could hardly have been a better list, and "The Makers of Canada" should come to be as well known and commanding a title as "Rulers of India," or even "English Men of Action."—Pall Mall Gazette, London, Eng.
